dyad 1971

I see narrow orders, limited tightness, but will
not run to that easy victory:
still around the looser, wider forces work:
I will try
to fasten into order enlarging grasps of disorder, widening scope, but enjoying the freedom that Scope eludes my grasp, that there is no finality of vision,
that I have perceived nothing completely,
that tomorrow a new walk is a new walk.

The Snow Man

One must have a mind of winter
To regard the frost and the boughs
Of the pine trees crusted with snow;

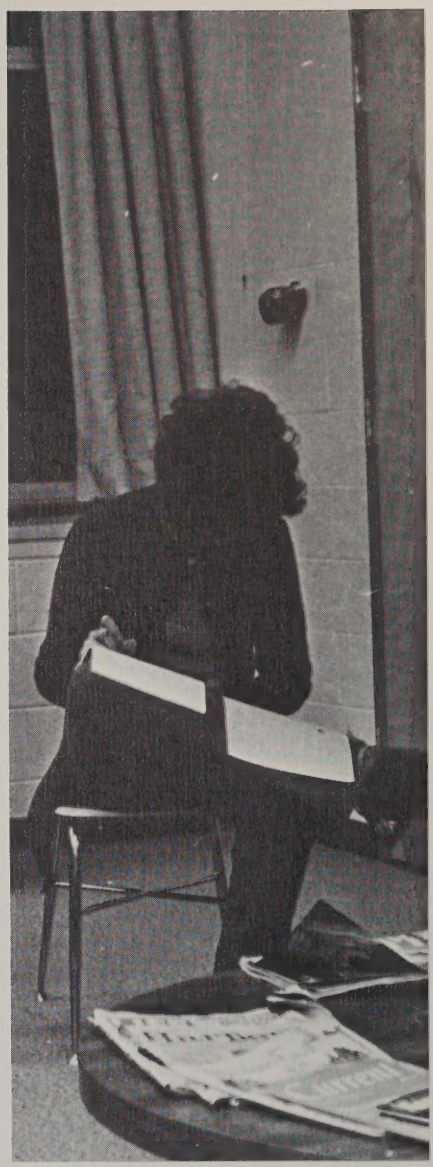
And have been cold a long time
To behold the junipers shagged with ice,
The spruces rough in the distant glitter

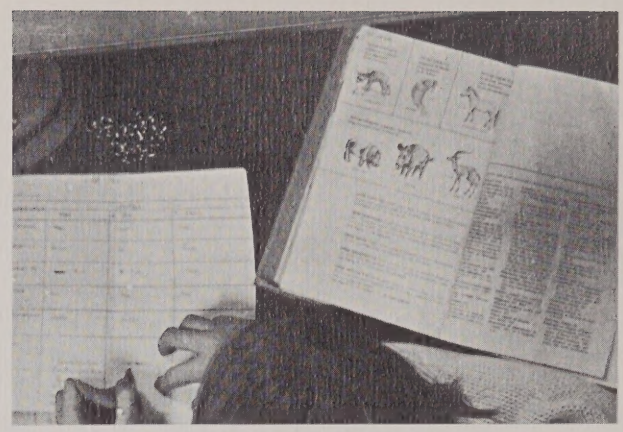
Of the January sun; and not to think
Of any misery in the sound of the wind,
In the sound of a few leaves,

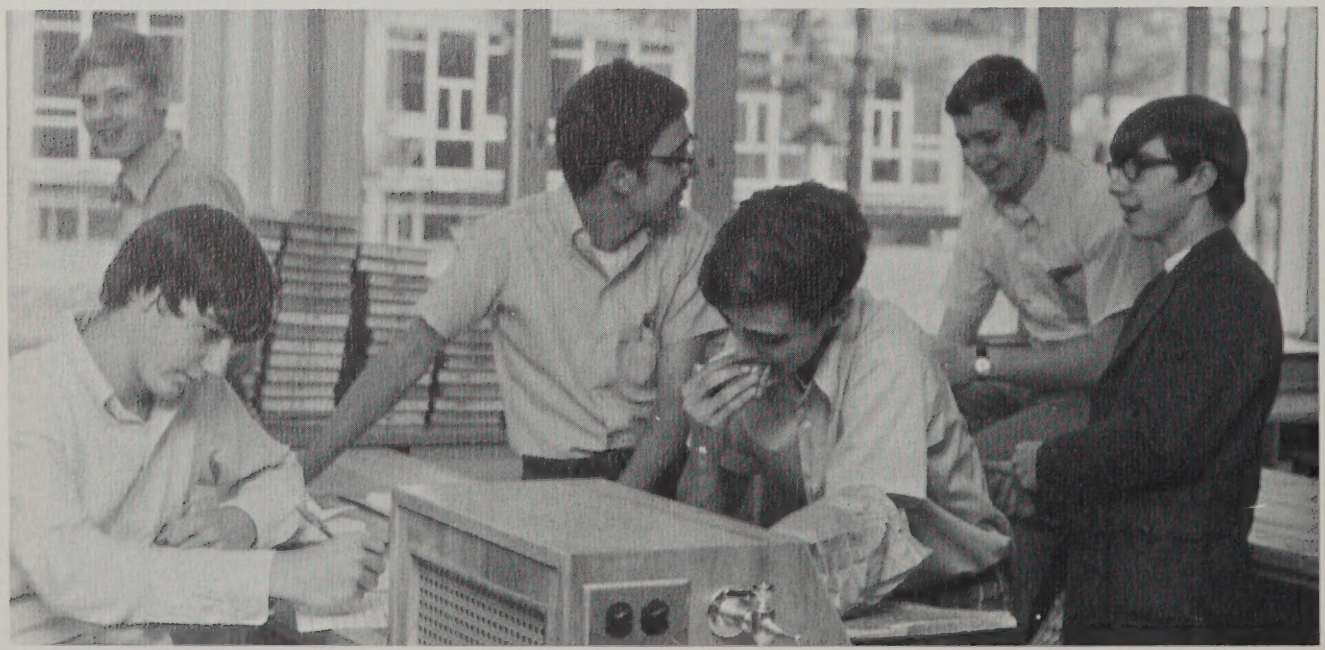
Which is the sound of the land
Full of the same wind
That is blowing in the same bare place

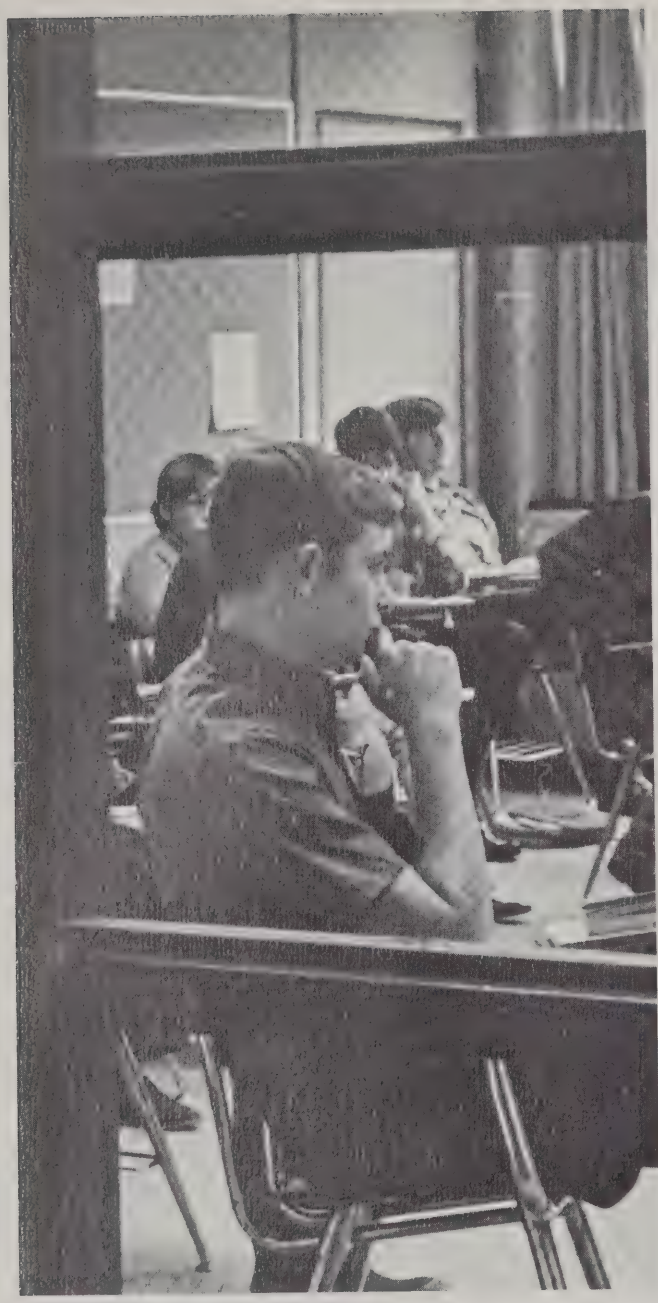
For the listener, who listens in the snow,
And nothing himself, beholds
Nothing that is not there and nothing that is.

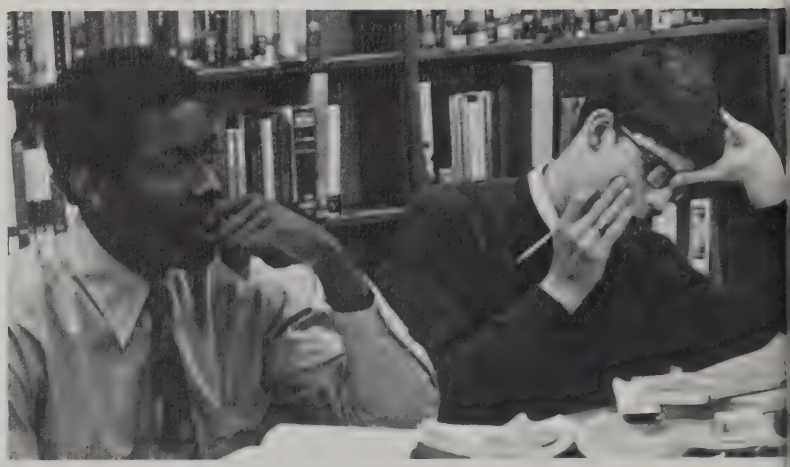
Wallace Stevens

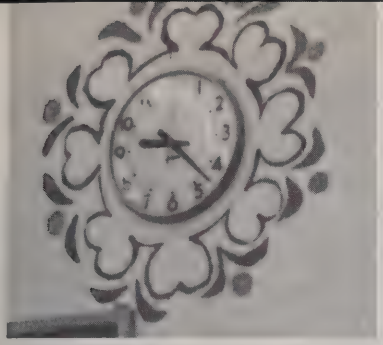






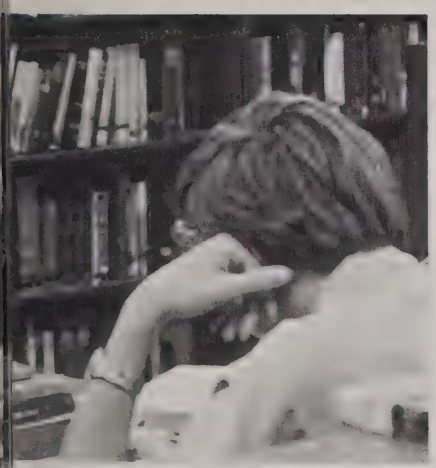


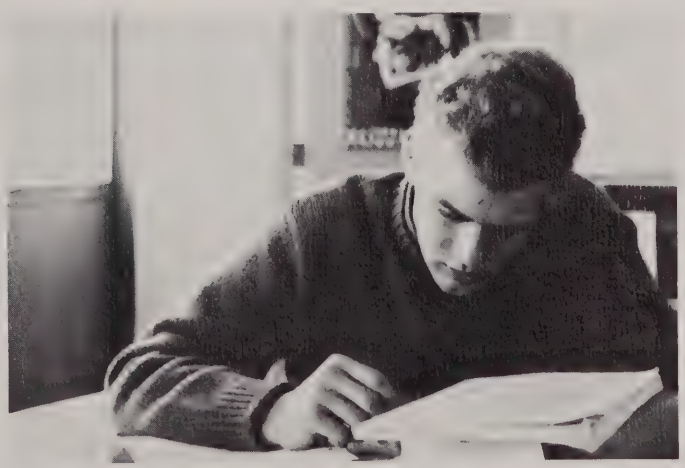


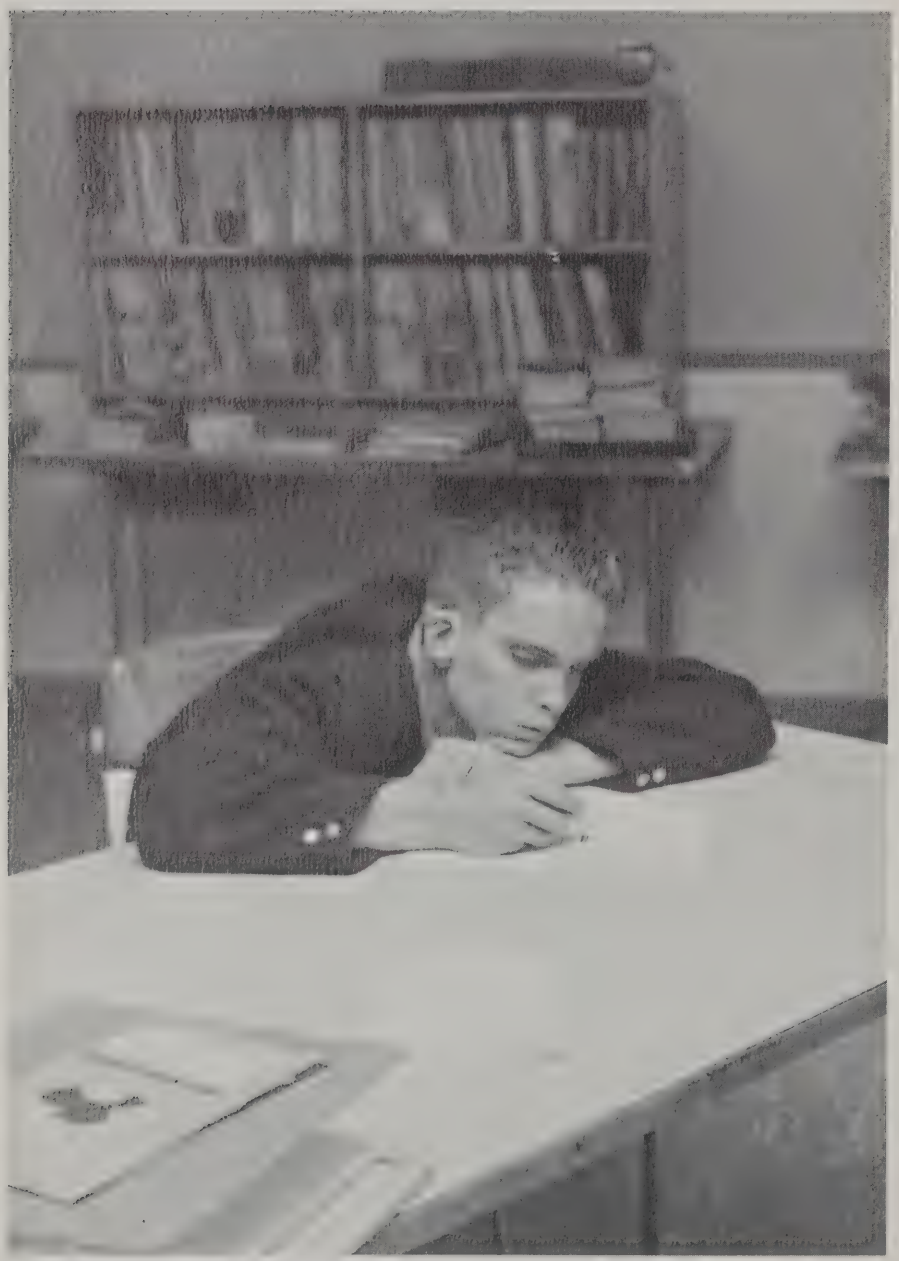


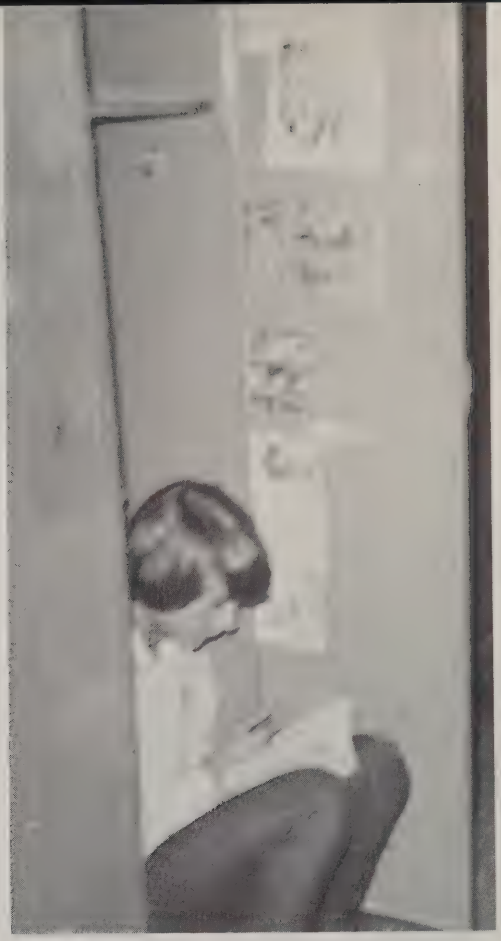
Balk logic with acquaintance that you have,
And practice rhetoric in your common talk;
Music and poesy use to quicken you;
The mathematics and the metaphysics
Fall to them as you find your stomach serves you;
No profit grows where is no pleasure ta'en;
In brief, sir, study what you most affect.

Shakespeare









We do, doodley do, doodley do, doodley do,
What we must, muddily must, muddily must, muddily must,
Muddily do, muddily do, muddily do, muddily do,
Until we bust, bodily bust, bodily bust, bodily bust.

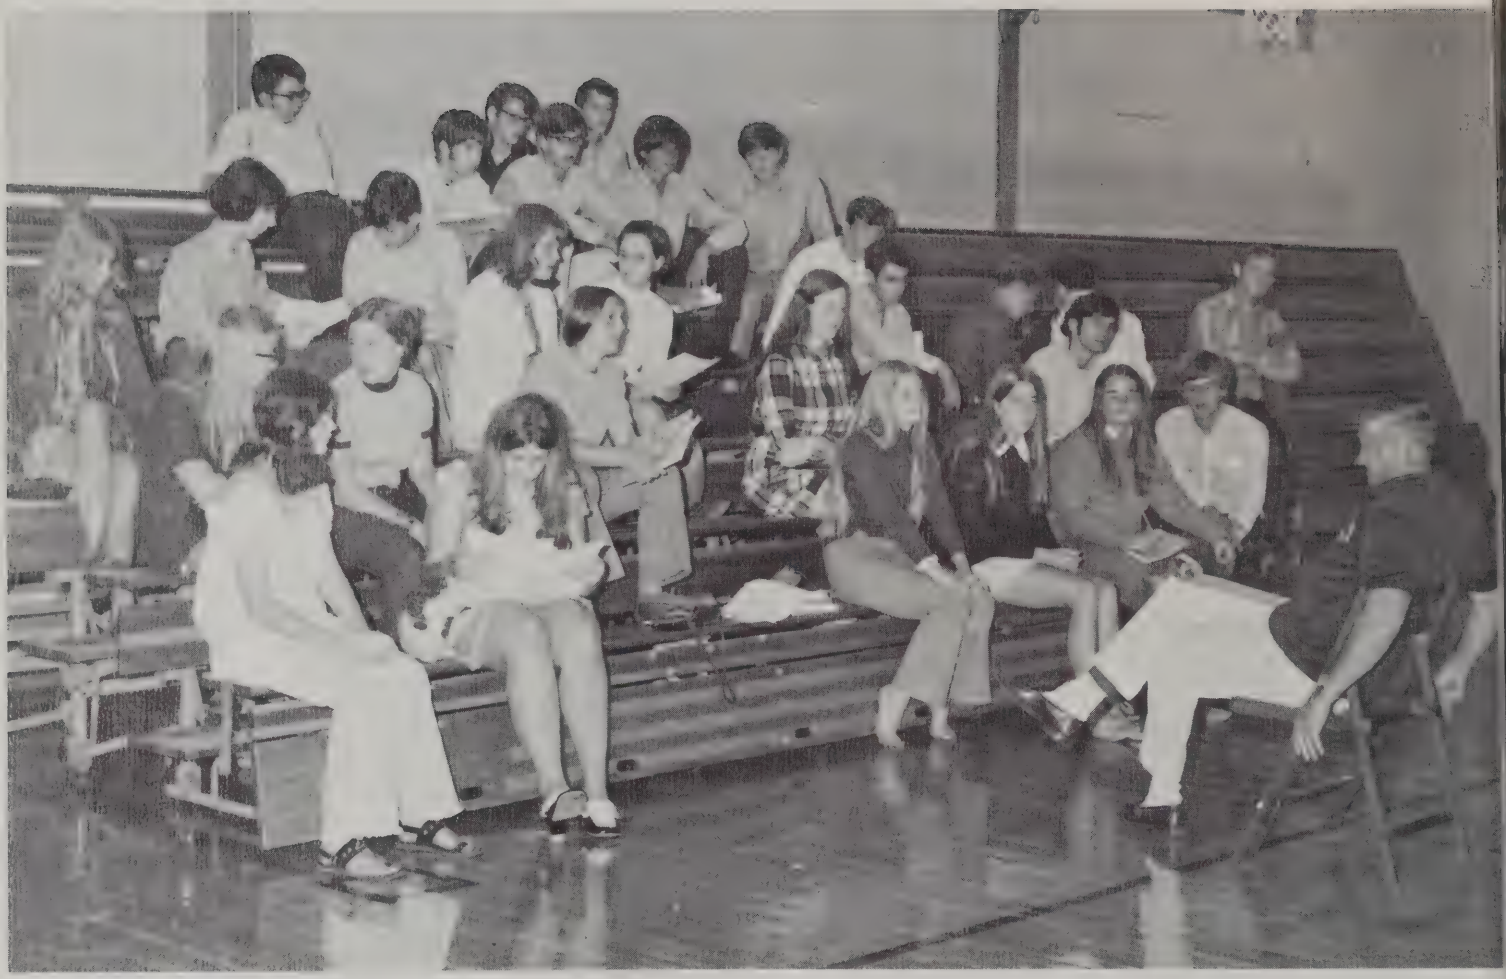
LINCOL SUDBURY



And children now, lost in the wood together,
Becoming the behavior of the wind,
The way the light fell, learnt each other newly
And sudden gentleness was apprehended
Till the abating winds, the whole storm swerving
Into another quarter, left them standing Unwild and watching in bewilderment
Their own delusive shadows slow and part.

Mrs. Linda Payne, counsellor of LSR's Metco students.

pupil services

Counselling is the heart of the services offered to Lincoln-Sudbury students. One-to-one conferences concerned with academic programs, personal problems, and future plans, and group conferences with students, parents, and teachers involve not only the director, the five hall counsellors, and the Metco counsellor, but also the designated teacher-counsellors, and freshmen advisors.

Typical of every counsellor's day are the scheduled appointments and the "I have to talk to you today!" emergency conferences.

pupil services

Schedules, class lists, report cards, tests, transcripts, and permanent records are only part of the "paper work" responsibility of Director Anthony Zarella and his Pupil Services secretarial staff.

Arranging college and career conferences, assembling a library of college and vocational information, administering college board and vocational tests, and finding part-time jobs are among the services offered to students.

Among the most vital of the services are the parent-teacher conferences and the discussions and in-service courses for teachers which the professional staff provides.

resource centers

resource centers

In the resource centers we read, study alone, or in groups, get help from teachers, or socialize in an informal atmosphere, during our free time. Both the math-language resource center in the 400 wing and the English-history-science resource center in the 600 wing are former classrooms transformed by painting, carpeting, and furnishings.

audio-visual services

MR. RICHARD SANTELLA,
Audio-Visual Coordinator

Working in enlarged facilities, Mr. Richard Santella and his student staff coordinate the film program for the entire school and provide AV equipment and operators for both school and community functions. From the proceeds of their "candy store" they bought carpeting for the TV and film production room, as well as additional equipment.

the library

Crowded from 8 until the 5 o'clock closing time, the library is the favorite place to meet, study, or browse. When the chairs, carrels, and tables are filled, students contentedly improvise. With the cooperation of the various departments and school organizations, Mrs. Monica Anderson, library coordinator, and her staff of professionals and volunteer mothers, set up a paperback bookstore and arranged two-week displays on topics of current interest.

the library

english

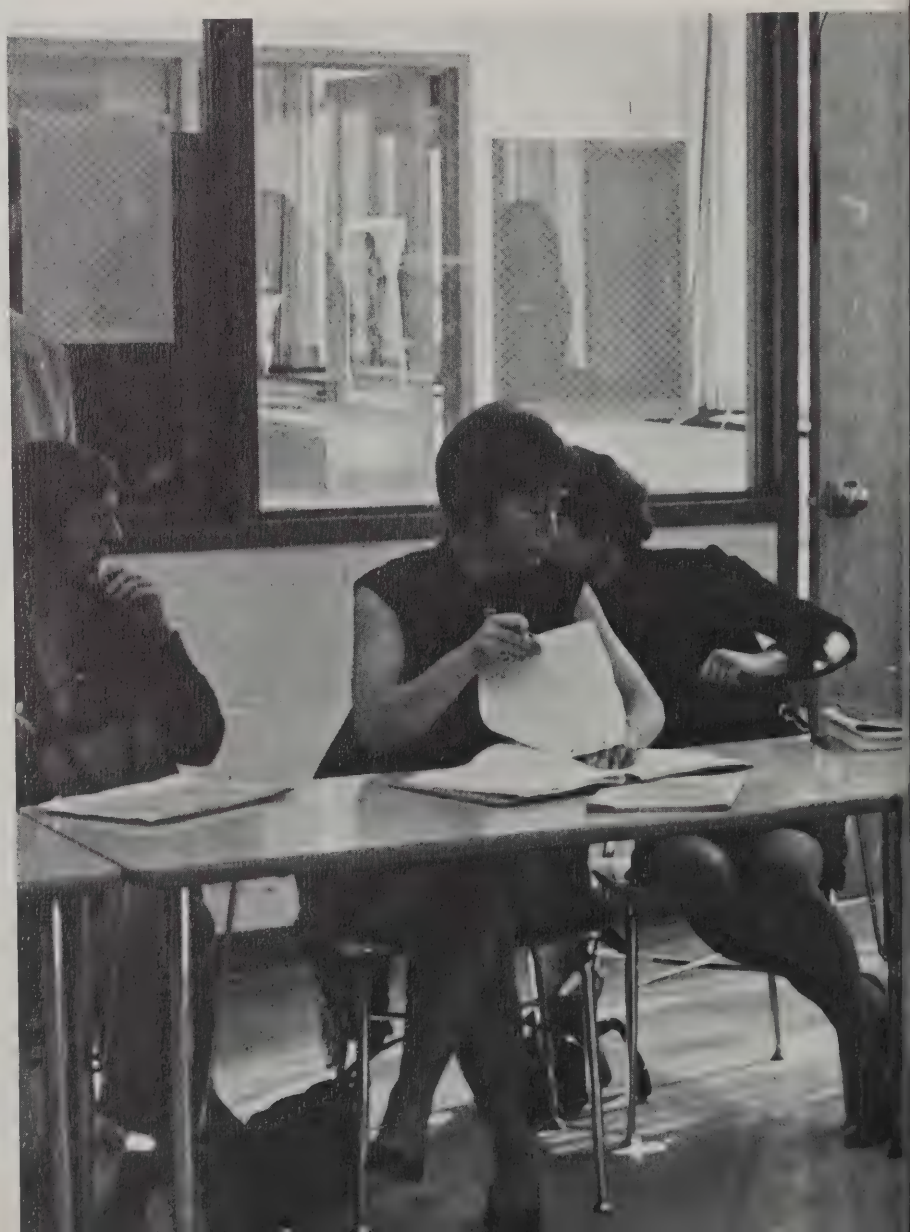
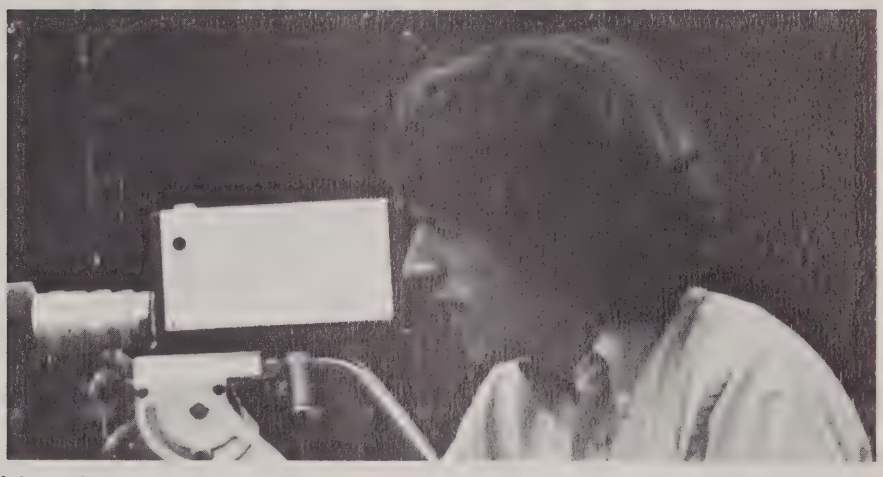
Mr. David Bronson, chairman of the English department, also teaches a Greek elective.

The beauty of the English program this year is in the unlimited diversity of topics a student can choose to become acquainted with. No longer bound to the generalities of a regular, all-year English course, though these are also available, he can branch out or delve into specialities, all in the form of electives. These electives, ranging from fantasy to fundamentals, are more beneficial and enjoyable because, chosen by a student's own free will, they reflect his individual needs and interests.





Lincoln-Sudbury's courses are open to interested adults in the community and several have enrolled in the English elective program.

The new Monday night journalism course taught by Miss Electa Kane, who was also the Promethean advisor, provided the core for the paper this year. Leslie Shansky '71, gave Promethean the leadership in many improvements. The editorials presented positions on real problems. The paper was published bi-monthly with special issues to clarify situations of deep concern to the student body. The photography of Phil Grover, George Loewenstein, Myles Grossman, and Roland Wales in the Gallery section was a highlight of the publication.

Communication at LSR Discussed by Students

Tuesday afternoon, December 15, what had been two separate meetings held to discuss ways to make the student voice heard at LSR merged. The first, called by George Marx, met in the English resource center, but when it became evident that few students would come, the meeting moved to room 403 where Mr. Miller was meeting with other students to discuss the possibilities of a representative body of students set up as a communications board.

This year the staff has attempted to alter the traditional poetry-magazine image of the Kaleidoscope. We have tried to broaden the magazine to include features which can be enjoyed by everyone such as cartoons, stories, and illustrations.

To facilitate this change the staff was expanded to include art students and a larger literary staff.

an original play by Elizabeth Greene

Julie Ragan, Andy Kramer, Electa Kane, Patty Emmons

Produced in the Little Theatre in November, The Thorns of Life brought back a touch of Victorianism with a modern ending. Basically it is the story of a Victorian lady who writes a scandalous novel, and publishes it under the name of her son's fiancée with dire consequences.

A good rapport among the members of the small cast gave continuity to this year's fall production. This was a necessity because the plot line was, in many ways, secondary to the excellent character portrayals.

The story is about Jennet, a girl accused of witchcraft, who falls in love with Thomas, a discharged and disenchanted soldier, who wishes to be hanged. Pam Wells and Bob Moir played these parts honestly, which was difficult to do in view of the comic characters composing most of the cast.

This year Select Chorus has spent the majority of its time rehearsing for the presentation of "Carmen" with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the guidance of Mr. Robert Wentworth. The chorus has pleased audiences at the homecoming concert, Symphony Hall, and at school events. Plans are underway for spring activities, to sing at hospitals and institutions in Boston, and to close the year singing at the graduation exercises.

special chorus

Becky Outten

Special Chorus this year consists of 15 members, under the direction of Mr. Dean Aldrich. They are heard at small social gatherings, as well as the annual Christmas and Pops concerts. Because the music they perform is varied, and the vocal quality with which they sing is high, the special chorus is enjoyed by almost any audience.

history and government

Field trips to Boston have always been a part of the American History and American Issues curriculum. This year the city has become a classroom for many Lincoln-Sudbury students who have worked, studied, and taught there.

In contrast to this experience in the modern city was the project in two classes which involved understanding and appreciation of America's past. Student researched and made products and objects characteristic of pre-twentieth century life in America — everything from soap to tavern signs.

And, of course, "Remember your icons."

Mr. Clapp

urban seminar

Lincoln-Sudubry students participated in the Urban Seminar Program, a twenty-week elective, initiated by Mr. David Clapp of the history department, and coordinated by the Division of Urban Volunteers, Boston. Some taught English to Chinese and Spanish speaking children, and others worked in the Boston Tenants Council Organizations.

A number of students taught in the Roxbury Headstart program, coordinated by Mr. Thomas Hooper of the English department.

Nancy Woodbury, Lincoln-Sudbury senior, taught in the day care center operated by the Chinese Christian Church of Bostón, directed by Rev. Dr. Peter Shi.

conservation corps

The Conservation Corps, a group of high school students themselves committed to protecting the woods and natural surroundings, taught and worked with elementary school children. They cleaned up wooded areas and set up modified "outward bound" equipment for their enjoyment. They hoped to instill in the young people a desire to preserve and enjoy the outdoors.

survival living

The new interdepartmental Survival Living course puts its emphasis upon living, in the belief that man, dependent upon his own resources, can survive. The pleasures of living without luxuries as Thoreau did at nearby Walden Pond, as well as survival skills in emergencies encountered in everyday life are presented in this course taught by Mr. Freitus and Mrs. Talbot.

Outward Bound established itself more firmly this year by taking over a bulletin board, moving into a bigger office, and painting their door. Bulletin board watchers were amazed by maps illustrating the trip to England led by Paul Ross. Nimbus + people were introduced to the joys of snow-camping and climbing, thanks to Sarge Janes and Jack Kerrebrock, aided and abetted by Ben Reed.

science

The science department offered a one-level course in their standard program this year, in addition to unified science. The first class to complete this three year unified science program will finish this June. Next year they will specialize in biology, physics, or chemistry.

The interdepartmental environmental issues course was new this year. New Science, was perhaps better known by the name of Mr. Joe Freitus, who added his inspiration, making the course very popular.

With modular scheduling, rooms were available for open labs, and independent study was carried on in such fields as astronomy, ecological topics, chemistry, physics, biology, and behavioral sciences.

mathematics

The new combination office and resource center arrangement brought mathematics teachers and students into close contact for conferences and help. Large group lectures, weekly assignments, and student math assistants, as well as more electives (computer math and number theory, for example) were important features of this year's math program. Students and teachers explained the program and gave demonstrations for both parents and teachers from other departments, indicating the content, the approaches used, and the scope of the mathematics curriculum.

foreign language

Fortunate circumstances permitted the foreign language department to increase its offerings this year. Mr. Myron Miller, the new department chairman, was able to arrange for a Russian language elective, taught by a Harvard student. Exchange student Peter Chan, with the assistance of Steve Murphy, organized a course in Chinese, and Mr. Bronson, of the English department, taught ancient Greek.

The department welcomed Mr. Walter Rengifo, exchange teacher from Peru, who taught Spanish as part of his doctoral program, and acted as advisor to the language magazine.

French students travelled to France during the spring vacation with Mr. Javitch as adviser, and to Quebec with Miss Clark and Miss Rudman.

Spanish students, with Miss Telfer as adviser, worked as bilingual receptionists at the Framingham Spanish-Speaking Center.

octoberfest
hannukah-und-weinachtsfest

Octoberfest, the German Club's dinner and entertainment, attracted students of German from neighboring high schools, as well as parents and friends. The club, with Mr. DeSimone as advisor, introduced a new event, the Hannukah-und-Weinachtsfest. With Mr. DeSimone and Mr. Krol, they attended the Tivoli festivities at Boston University.

la cuisinière endormie

In a cafe atmosphere complete with candlelight, decorated tables, and costumed waiters and waitresses, the French Club, with Miss Clark and Miss Rudman as advisers, served dinner to 300 persons in an event to benefit the planned trip to Quebec. The patrons were serenaded and entertained with folk dancing led by Cecile Desveaux, the Can-Can, featuring Miss Patti Clark and girls, and with songs by the Special Chorus. Finally all joined in singing French songs, with Mr. Miller as leader.

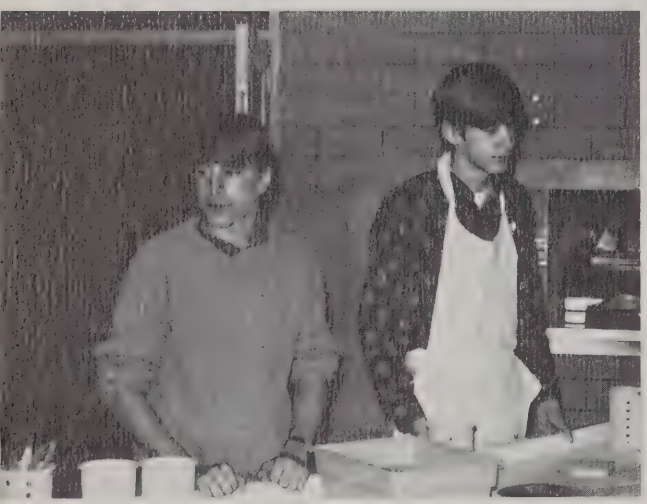
In the fall, the foreign students, ambassadors, and faculty advisors spent a weekend at Mrs. Adrian's Cape Cod home. Miss Rudman was given a thorough dunking at the beach. Later, teacher-ambassador from Peru, Walter Rengifo, helped with the clean-up, under the supervision of Mrs. Adrian.



The Fall Workday and International Dinner was held on October 17. Student volunteers washed windows, raked leaves, painted, and worked as waitresses and bus boys at the dinner to raise funds for the exchange program. That evening, after a delicious meal, the summer ambassadors showed slides and discussed their experiences.

All the foreign students, committee members and guests enjoyed the annual Pierce House Christmas Party. The snowfall, skating on Pierce Pond, and Miss Rudman's spaghetti recipe made the party a real success. Mr. Miskell's superior dishwashing techniques were really appreciated.

career exploration program

More than 250 L.S.R. students are sampling a variety of careers in the Career Exploration Program (CEP). They teach in the elementary schools and in the high school, teach in the city, work as volunteers in day care centers, hospitals and government agencies, and hold work-study jobs in industry. As directors of the program, Mrs. Pappas and Mr. Pacenka arrange placement and schedules for the students, supervise them, and work with school officials, teachers, and employers whose cooperation has made this program possible.

technology

Flexible scheduling made it possible to admit girls to the technology courses this year. Technical drawing, drafting, woodworking, electronics, and metals had great appeal. The department's popularity with both boys and girls is due, not only to the skills taught, but also because of the opportunities it offers for individual and group projects.

business

Exploring the opportunities for careers in business leads students into unexpected discoveries about themselves. While observing and participating in job situations in our communities (this year: secretarial, sales, customer relations) students see other opportunities for which they can train themselves — perhaps even before they leave high school.

fibers and fabrics

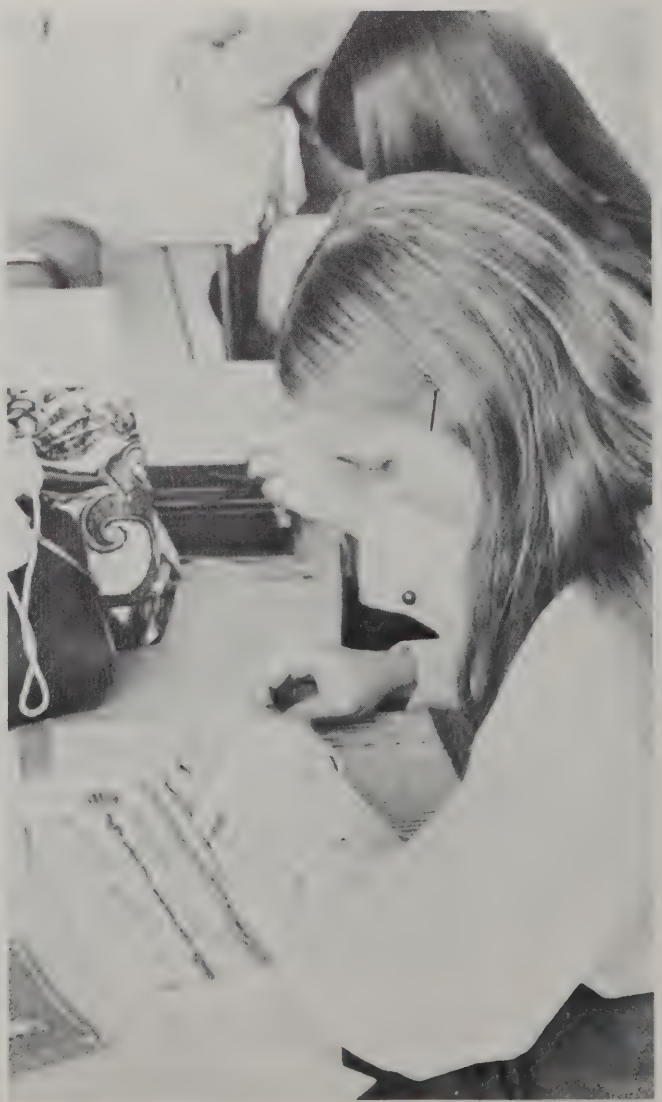
Fibers and Fabrics, the Home Economics department's craft course, attracted 150 girls. Some have been busily weaving bands for bags and belts on Inkle looms which they made in the woodworking shop with Mr. Walsh's help. Macramé, finger weaving, stitchery, knitting, and crocheting have also been very popular and portable.



Clothing, foods, family living, and child development courses were not neglected, the latter very important as the department prepares for its nursery school which will open next fall in the "White House."

Mrs. Cussen coached both boys and girls with the help of senior captains Lawrence and Cousins. Daily practice took place on the school's new hill, which was cleared in the fall by several members of the squad. This year the physical education department has adopted a lab system. Students may go to the gym during their free time. Periods are combinations of 20 minute blocks. In a lab they have a choice of floor hockey, volleyball, tennis, outward bound (new this year), gymnastics, soccer, basketball, and the recently introduced international handball. Floor hockey has changed somewhat. It is now coed and attracts more student participation, as do all the gym courses.

honors to varsity players

The LSR varsity players earned and received many awards for their excellent all-season efforts.

Nine members were selected for the Dual County League All-Star Team. Chosen were Andy Keyes, Kevin Meehan, Alan Ey, Richard deMont, John Grabill, Dennis Daniels, Steve Sargent, Chuck Swan and Frank Walsh.

Mark Beaton, who did an outstanding job in the goal with 12 shutouts, made the second All Dual County League Team.

Richard deMont was named to the National Soccer Coaches Association High School All-American Team.

Captain Ernie Taylor comes over the top of the hill on the Lincoln-Sudbury course with Paul Neumann pushing right behind him. Ernie holds this course record, set one at Wayland this season, and won 12 meets.

As the varsity finishers approach, JV runners Scott Jordan and Tim Brown, look on with Westwood Coach Fishler and Coach Miskell. LSR won this one 20-35.

Cross country running is a grueling, lonely sport. In addition to physical stamina it takes heart, and it doesn't have much spectator appeal. The dedicated band who participate offer a unique combination of individual traits blended with team spirit, and their coach finds it rewarding to run with them (way behind), revel in their wins, and commiserate in their losses.

Paul Neumann finishes 2nd at Acton-Boxborough in a heart-breaking race that we lost 28-27. With it went our chance for a Dual County League tie for first place. Paul placed either first or second in half the season's meets.

Jeff Sharpe and Ernie Taylor lead three Acton-Boxborough runners.

Lincoln-Sudbury's varsity cross country runners had their best season this year, winning 11, losing 2 (by 1 point and 2 points) to Acton-Boxborough, and sharing a tie with Wayland. LSR has had front runners before, but what made the difference this year was exceptional depth. Cross country races are won by team scores of the first five runners, and the addition to our squad of Bruce Marshall and Mike Farr, along with the regulars — Captain Ernie Taylor, Paul Neumann, and Jeff Sharpe gave a consistent edge in competition. Injuries plagued Galen Tinder, but his contribution helped, and the marked improvement shown by Carl Rubin, Ed Chisholm, and Tom Wellman rounded out the varsity picture.

The JV runners show promise for the coming season. Their 5 and 4 record does not reveal fine individual performances by Eric Stahl, Mike Murphy, Greg Maynard, and Brian Coolbaugh.

Start of the Acton-Boxborough meet. Both JV and Varsity ran together in this meet, crucial to final league standings. Acton-Boxborough was undefeated and LSR had lost only once to them.

There are many facets in the Lincoln-Sudbury Regional design. This year has seen those facets expand and develop as we, together, have participated in the creation of new programs and the re-thinking of old ones.

With the formation of the Career Exploration Program, Lincoln-Sudbury embarked on a series of challenging new educational opportunities that go beyond the walls of any building. From volunteer services in Boston's south end, to classroom teaching in the elementary schools of Lincoln and Sudbury, C.E.P. students have learned through working in real-life situations.

Course electives in such varied studies as science fiction, British satire, film making, Shakespeare, Black History, Russian studies, computer Math, number theory, and comparative religions have contributed to the many sided offerings of a vital and relevant curriculum.

Through cooperation of students and faculty in science, home economics and physical education programs, we have found a whole new facet of concern in high school education — i.e., environmental pollution. Nothing demonstrates more dramatically the vitality of a school than its responsiveness to the critical issues of the society in which it exists. New studies in ecology, survival living, and conservation have prompted enthusiastic responses and significant learning experiences.

In all, these and other diverse facets of Lincoln-Sudbury have created an exciting atmosphere for discovery and personal growth.

PATRICIA A. ACKROYD
"We are the music makers,
And we are the dreamers of dreams,
World-losers and world-forsakers
Yet we are the movers and shakers
Of the world forever, it seems."

KAREN ADAMSON

Right on; right on baby!

THOMAS J. BAKER
"What is it that you wanted to learn from teaching and teachers and although they taught you much, what was it that they could not teach you? and he thought: It was the Self, the Character and the nature of which I wished to learn. Truly nothing in the world has occupied my thoughts as much as the Self . . . and about nothing in the world do I know less than about myself."
Herman Hesse

SPENCER AMESBURY
"I can tell by your coke my friend that you're from the other side. There's just one thing I got to know, can you tell me please, who won the war? Can I try some of your purple berries? Yes, you may. I've been eating them for six or seven weeks now, probably keep us both alive."
Steven Stills and David Crosby

IN MEMORY OF
MICHAEL PETER MOULTON '71

We will always remember Michael as an individual – very much his own man. Yet he was a valued friend to many, and an advisor to all those who sought him out.

Michael could usually be found either at the Bonnie Brae Golf Driving Range, or on the basketball court behind the Goodnow Library with his friends.

One of Michael's two great passions was motorcycling. During the summer his thoughts centered on his love for bikes, and he became expert in all facets of motorcycling. He dreamed of crossing the country, enjoying the freedom that traveling by bike affords, and spent much of his time touring Massachusetts on his bike.

Michael's other love was basketball. He learned most of his basketball skills by playing behind the library with all the guys. He attended basketball camp the summer following his sophomore year, and this, combined with determination, hustle, and hard work, helped make him an aggressive team player. Strong off the boards and a marksman from the corners, he was an invaluable addition to the team.

Appropriately, friends have established the "Michael Moulton Memorial Fund," From its proceeds a trophy will be awarded each year to the varsity basketball player who best exemplifies the qualities Michael displayed.

The future arrives sooner at Raytheon.

When you work at the forefront of technology, you work on "tomorrow" every day.

That's what we do at Raytheon. With amazing results. For example, Radarange® microwave ovens for the home. A miniature furnace the size of a two-pound coffee can. Motionless radars that "see" everywhere at once.

Our facilities stretch around the world. And our activities extend from space exploration to pollution control.

Raytheon. The company that makes things happen.

RAYTHEON

Congratulations to the class of 1971.
Raytheon Company,
Equipment Development Laboratory,
Sudbury/Wayland, Mass.

Suddenly I realize
That if I stepped out of my body I would break

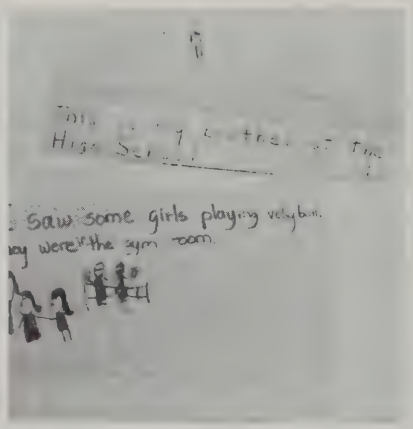
Say that it is a game of identities this —
You chasing yourself, not caring whatever you find.
You have not sought a use for mirrors yet,
It is not your own shadow that you watch,
Only our world which you learn slowly:
Our shadows strive to mingle with your own.
from the Child and the Shadow
by Elizabeth Jennings.



Saw some girls playing volyball
the gym room

I have reached no conclusions, have erected no boundaries, shutting out and shutting in, separating inside from outside: I have drawn no lines:
    as manifold events of sand change the dunes shape that will not be the same shape tomorrow,

so I am willing to go along, to accept the becoming thought, to stake off no beginnings or ends, establish no walls:

from Corson's Inlet
by A. R. Ammons

I see narrow orders, limited tightness, but will
not run to that easy victory:
still around the looser, wider forces work:
I will try
to fasten into order enlarging grasps of disorder,
widening scope, but enjoying the freedom that
Scope eludes my grasp, that there is no finality of vision,
that I have perceived nothing completely,
that tomorrow a new walk is a new walk.
